

ADVANCED HEALTH MANAGEMENT PROGRAMME

Ms. Nomzi Mnyipika

Ms Mnyipika is a professional nurse and is a lecturer at the Walter Sisulu University.

She completed the Advanced Health Management Programme and says: "The course at FPD developed me a lot in terms of management, formerly I had experience in project management, however, the course made me more confident and sharpened my abilities in the area of project management. I am now able to even write proposals for funding. The course helped me learn to assess myself as a manager and asses other people, a very important skill in human resource management."

"FPD has helped to develop health care workers. In most instances while in management, one thinks they know, however once enrolled for the course, one notes how one learns more and expands their knowledge, giving one more confidence. And one is able to deal better with patients and clients."
